Clarence F. Byrns, editor of the Post-Smiley newspaper, will be the speaker at the annual Hempstead County Balanced Farming Competition banquet in Hope, Thursday, November 10.

The announcement yesterday from Ed Thrash, acting chairman of the Agriculture committee of the Hempstead County Chamber of Commerce, means that the biggest farm dinner of the year has gotten one of the best-informed speakers of the Southwest.

Mr. Byrns has been associated with the morning Southwest American, evening Times-Record, and Sunday Southwest for more than 15 years, ever since 1914, serving as editor-in-chief since 1927.

That was the year, 1927, when I met him. It was April, and newspaper men from all over the state had congregated at Fort Smith for a special train which would take us up the Ozarks to the Apple Blossom Festival at Rogers. I was from the El Dorado Daily News; Fletcher (Slick) Chenaunt represented the Arkansas Gazette.

Mr. Byrns was one of the journalists since the western Ozarks with in Fort Smith's trade territory — and then there were Governor John E. Martin and many other guests.

But 1927 also was the Year of the Great Flood. The Rogers Festival was rained out, a washout on the "Prisco" tracks, but out of our return to Fort Smith for 24 hours — and when we did get back the raging Arkansas river marooned us there for a week, and another week in Little Rock.

On that day, I discovered Clarence Byrns is not only a newspaper writer but an amateur meteorologist, a person curious about a great many things and well informed on most of them.

In recent years he has been in wide demand as a speaker before farm and industrial groups. He was the unanimous choice of the local committee, and his acceptance assured the 1930 Balanced Farming Competition banquet an outstanding figure for its program.

In its annual organization meeting here this week the Third District Livestock Show association recommended to its executive committee that it consider a proposal to make the 1930 Show a free one.

The new president, Glen Wallace of Nashville, will name the executive committee from the new group of officers — and then the committee will make its decision.

While this correspondent has always leaned to the theory that some small charge is necessary for the continued success of even a publicly-owned show, any system can be made to work. If the expense of handling the "gate charge" nearly equals the "gate income" then it might be well to try a free show next year.

But the success of the Third District Stock Show rests primarily with the business men and public of Hope, the host city. And I want to point out to you that there was very little co-operation from the business men in the purchasing and equipping of booths in the exhibit hall at this year's show.

The exhibit booth proceeds help support the show just as much as the receipts do. And a free show will mean that 100 per cent support of exhibit booths will be absolutely necessary.

Let's keep this in mind as we plan for the 1930 Stock Show — and be sure that the booths are completely sold out before we do another thing about planning the show for '30.

Warns Britain Can't Exist on U. S. Charity

London, Oct. 26 — (AP) — Sir Stafford Cripps solemnly warned Britain today it could not exist on the charity of the United States.

Opening a two-day debate in the house of commons on the government's new 280,000,000 pound (£40,000,000) economy drive, the chancellor of the exchequer declared:

"At the root of our success or failure lies our own capacity to produce. The only real solution for our difficulties is more and more economical and efficient production."

The cut in dollar imports — such as tobacco, food, cotton and gasoline — and a slash in government spending are essential, he said, "but cannot of itself bring" success.

He said Britain wants to be able to afford a high standard of living — not through the charity of the United States, but because we can and do produce enough currently to supply all our own wants."

Cripps said the "most acute of our own and the world's post-war economic problems has been that of the dollar-dollar trade."

"We still have a gap which is being filled by Marshall aid and up till the date of devaluation on it was also being filled by a heavy drain on our reserves as well," Cripps said.

Britain devalued the pounds from $4.03 to $2.80 Sept. 18. The government sought to increase sales of British goods in dollar areas by knocking down their high prices.

Britain spent $1,600,000,000 last year in importing raw materials, and slashed dollar buying for the remainder of the year to an annual rate of $1,200,000,000.

Sees Chance of Compromise in Steel Strike

Washington, Oct. 26 — (AP) — An industry leader's suggestion that a steel strike compromise is possible encouraged government officials today in their efforts to settle the coal-steel crisis.

These officials saw a chance of getting company-union peace talks started, on the steel pension financing dispute.

They pinned their hopes on remarks made by Chairman Irving S. Olds of the U. S. Steel Corp. in New York yesterday after a board of directors meeting.

Olds reminded newsmen that neither U. S. Steel nor the striking CIO Steelworkers union has made a direct move to resume negotiations since the strike began Oct. 1.

"It seems to me," Olds said, "the sensible thing would be to sit down and see how far we could get toward agreeing on a pension program. We might even reach some common ground on contribution and non-contributory features."

The White House said that President Truman has no plans for intervention today in either the coal or the steel strikes.

Press Secretary Charles G. Ross told reporters "I do not anticipate any action today."

"How about tomorrow?" reporters asked.

He said he could only speak for today and would have to speak tomorrow for what ever might be in sight at that time.

Other White House sources said the President has no immediate plans for action.

Ross had no comment on a request by the American Retail Coal Association for President Truman "to take immediate steps to end the coal strike."

He said Mr. Truman gets many telegrams and letters and he doubted if he had seen that one yet.

There was no indication whatever the White House was waiting to see what happens to Olds' idea.

Plans Set for Farm Dinner November 10

Plans are progressing for the Balanced Farming Competition banquet to be held November 10 at the high school cafeteria.

The banquet marks completion of the year's contest for all farm families in the county. The contest is sponsored by the Hope Chamber of Commerce in conjunction with the county agricultural officers and its prime purpose is for the improvement of all phases of farm life.

Ed Thrash will be in charge of ticket sales locally to business men and their families. Dorsey McRae, Frank Walters and Chamber Manager, Charles A. Ammitage will be responsible for the receiving of merchandise prizes from local stores.

All invited farmers and families will be the guest of the First National Bank of Hope. The meal will be served cafeteria style at 6:30 p.m. and those attending will then move to the school auditorium for the winning family prizes and the principal address of the evening by Clarence F. Byrns.

Ladies Please, Please Don't Trade That New Look for the 'Gunny Sack' Look of the 20's

By HAL BOYLE
New York (AP) — Lady say it isn't so. Please say it isn't so, lady.

So it isn't true — this report that female fashions are going back to the 1920's for inspiration.

No, no, no! Not that! Anything else — not that! What have we done to deserve such eyeball punishment?

And it isn't even ourselves we're so worried about. It's you, lady. Why should you do it to yourself again?

Don't trade the "new look" for the "gunny sack look." I'll admit there was a lot of foolish male yammering against the "new look" a couple of seasons back just because it was novel. Every man was surprised to see it turn out better than he had feared.

But going back to the 1920's again is another thing. He can't hope for anything but the worst — because we went through that madness before.

Go back to the fig leaf of eve or the bustle of Victoria's day. Wear anything ever tried in the long forlorn history of woman's struggle for style — anything but what you clothed yourself in during the mad, bad 1920's.

They call that the period of "the lost generation" and blame it on the disillusionment of the First World War. But it wasn't the men who were lost; it was the women.

It was the time when girls would be boys. No wonder the boys refused to grow up and act like men. Remember? If you don't get out the family album and take a look. I know some families that keep their album on a high shelf for fear the children will turn to the pages pasted in during the 1920's — and be frightened into fits.

Remember now? Remember how the girls drove men out of their last refuge — the barbershop — to

Russians Oust Slav Envoy; Tito Building Foundation for Move to Unseat Stalin

London, Oct. 26 — (UP) — Marshal Tito of Yugoslavia is building the foundation for a "fifth international" movement in a strong bid to unseat Soviet Premier Josef Stalin as the world's No. 1 communist, well informed British left-wing sources said today.

These sources, some of whom know Tito and other members of the Yugoslav politburo personally, said Tito visualizes a communist-socialist-labor entente which eventually might head a world federal government.

They said Tito has gained "immense" support in the left-wing movement in Britain and elsewhere and they believe he has a good chance to gain social democratic support, where Stalin has failed.

"There are patriots in every country who want a socialist state, but their own state and not as part of the tail of the Soviet kite," a prominent British left-wing politician said.

It was understood two left-wing groups are considering forming a splinter party in the forthcoming general elections.

One is composed of members of parliament who were expelled by the Labour party as apologists for Moscow. The other is made up of left-wing members still in parliament but opposed to some of the policies of the labor government.

This splinter party's foreign policy, it was understood, would be to break with the Tito movement and not the Kremlin.

Presumably Yugoslavia's acting charge d'affaires Lazo Laimovic will continue to serve as head of the mission, a post he has held since Mrazovic left Moscow.

If normal diplomatic procedure is followed, Yugoslavia now can nominate another person as ambassador to Moscow, "The Russians would either accept or reject this nomination."

Russia has only minor diplomatic representation in Yugoslavia. Her last ambassador, to Belgrade, Anatole I. Lavrentiev, returned to Moscow in August when he was named deputy minister of foreign affairs.

Cleveland, Oct. 26 — (AP) — The leftist CIO United Electrical asked CIO President Philip Murray today to meet with its representatives in an effort to patch up bitter differences between the two.

In a telegram from New York Julius Emspak, secretary-treasurer of the UE, suggested that the internal squabble be settled in order that the CIO convention next week can concentrate on other matters.

A violent battle has been expected to develop at the sessions between the parent CIO and its left-dominated unions. One of the big fights would involve the UE.

Murray had no immediate comment on Emspak's offer. He indicated to a news conference yesterday, however, that the leftist matter would have to be settled at the convention opening here Monday.

Emspak said Murray earlier this month expressed unwillingness to confer with UE officers before the CIO convention, "resolving the problems created by CIO raiding and interference in the internal affairs of the UE."

At its convention here last month, the UE issued an "ultimatum" to Murray. It said the union would hold back his per capita tax to the CIO unless Murray calls a halt to CIO raiding of UE ranks and ousts the worst critics of the union's left wing leadership.

The conciliation move came as CIO leaders took a cocky attitude toward their ability to quell any left-wing revolt at the convention.

Moscow, Oct. 26 — (AP) — Russia has charged Marshal Tito's ambassador in Moscow with an "anti-Soviet" movement and declared that he can no longer serve as the Yugoslav envoy here.

A Soviet note delivered yesterday to the Yugoslav embassy said the Budapest treason trial of Hungary's former Foreign Minister Laszlo Rakj had revealed that Yugoslavia Ambassador Karlo Mrazovic "had for a long time engaged in spying and subversive activities against the Soviet Union."

Mrazovic left Moscow for Yugoslavia in August and has not returned since, though technically remains ambassador to the Soviet Union. It had been presumed he would return to the Russian capital eventually.

The Kremlin's note said also that Mrazovic "while being Yugoslav Ambassador in the U.S.S.R., had returned since, though technically remains ambassador to the Soviet Union. It had been presumed he would return to the Russian capital eventually."

Man Sentenced to Life for Father's Death

Hartford, Conn., Oct. 26 — (AP) — Hugh White has been sentenced to life imprisonment, as recommended by the jury which convicted him of first degree murder in the death of his father.

Portland City Marshal Mead W. White was hanged to death at his home last Aug. 21. The 40-year-old son was on parole from the Texas penitentiary at the time. He had been serving a sentence for slaying an oil field worker. His father had helped obtain his release.

The new pay "floor" for workers in interstate commerce becomes effective in 90 days. Congress members have estimated the 35-cent-an-hour increase in the minimum rate will hike the pay-off up to 1,500,000 workers now getting less than 75 cents an hour.

They figure the increase will raise the wage bill of employers around $300,000,000 a year.

Mr. Truman had asked congress not only to raise minimum pay to 75 cents an hour, but to broaden coverage of the present law.

Congress met the President's request for a 75-cent minimum, but it narrowed the law's coverage instead of broadening it.

At present about 22,600,000 workers are protected by the statute. The house voted to exclude about 1,000,000 of those, and the senate only about 200,000.

The narrowing of coverage results mainly from a new definition of the word "produce" in the law. At present the act applies to workers among others, who are "necessary to the production of goods moving in interstate commerce."

The house changed that phrase to "indispensable to," and it figured that would take around 1,050,000 workers out from under the wage-hour provisions.

In conference, a senate-house committee substituted "directly essential to" for "indispensable to." The committee members said the change would mean fewer workers excluded than the house voted.

Passenger Service on MP Resumed

St. Louis, Oct. 26 — (AP) — The Ozarkair rolled out of Union Station for Little Rock at 7:44 a.m. (CST) today — the first Missouri Pacific passenger train to leave St. Louis since the start of a strike Sept. 9.

The train, which was scheduled to leave at 7:44 a.m., was delayed by the resumption of normal operations on the railroad's 10-state network.

Officials said the train failed to leave on time because of heavy loading of mail and slow loading.

Next Mo-Pac passenger train to leave was the Missouri River Eagle which departed for Kansas City and Omaha at 8:55 a.m., five minutes late.

Forty-eight passenger cars arrived from the east last night, planning to transfer to Missouri Pacific trains. They were shuttled to other lines.

A company spokesman said reservations on tomorrow night's Texas Eagle are sold out but that extra cars would be added for passengers bound for Dallas, Fort Worth, El Paso, Houston, Galveston and San Antonio.

Reservations still are available on the same train tonight, leaving here at 5:30 p.m.

Except for a few freight crews, all 5,000 operating employees who were on strike are back at work. Freight shipments are being accumulated as fast as possible.

Meantime, action was being taken here to study 40 unsettled union claims against the railroad. These are the only ones left out of the 222 cases that led to the long and costly strike, which ended Sunday night.

Churchill Offers
 No Confidence Motion

London, Oct. 25 — (AP) — Winston Churchill today offered a motion of no confidence in the labor government of its program for economic recovery.

The leader of the Conservative party and his aides presented the motion in the house of commons on the eve of a two-day debate on plans outlined yesterday by labor Prime Minister Attlee calling for a $784,000,000 slash in expenses to pull the nation out of its economic crisis.

The Conservative move countered a government appeal for a vote of confidence. The vote on both resolutions is expected at the end of the debate Thursday night.

Bosox Have All Bonus Players They Want

Boston, Oct. 26 — (UP) — The Boston Red Sox, like several other major league clubs, went on record today as saying they have all the bonus ballplayers they want.

Red Sox General Manager Joe Cronin declared his club "is not interested in any more bonus players."

Cronin made the policy statement in answer to a query as to whether the Red Sox would be interested in bidding for Lt. Glenn Davis, former Army All-America with the Texas aspirations.

Principal bonus player with the Red Sox is Pitcher Chuck Stobbs, 20-year-old southpaw given a $20,000 bonus for signing in 1948.

Friday night the Bobcats return to the local field against the Hot Springs Trojans of the Big Six loop. The game has been designated homecoming.
